

ANTI-FEDERALIST ARGUMENTS AGAINST THE CONSTITUTION

- It gave too much power to the national government at the expense of the state governments.
- There was no bill of rights.
- The national government could a standing army.
- Reserved powers are not delegated to the states (re: elastic clause).
- Federal judges would over-rule state legislatures and courts